Message from Mrs Donne

It's been wonderful to see some signs of spring and have the doors open and the children outside without coats on this week, finally a break from the rain!

News from Swallow Class

We have started some new learning in English this week on reports. We're going to eventually record some information about Kenya, but in the meantime we have been looking at the difference between fiction and non-fiction, and the features of each. We've had a bit of an off topic week apart from that with World book day and mother's day, but fun none the less!

News from Hare Class

This week we have begun to plan podcasts and we have come to the end of 'Stone Age Boy'. Stonehenge is our next focus.

Stars of the Week

Swallow Star of the Week is	Alex - for making superb progress in reading, showing some wonderful observation skills, and making me laugh everyday!
Hare Star of the Week is	Joel - It has been so nice to see Joel being more settled in school. We really need his enthusiasm, his amazing knowledge and his ability to make links in class. Joel really helps make Hare Class a great place to be!

World Book Day and The Bookery

We had a lovely off curriculum day for World Book Day on Thursday, lovely to see so many different costumes and books shared. We all did some work using the book 'The Dot' by Peter Reynolds, which is about a little girl who couldn't draw, so she just drew a dot to start with. We had lots of fun drawing all kinds of dots.

It was wonderful to have a visit from The Bookery in CREDITON, who came in and shared some carefully selected new titles for the children to choose from, and told us all about the books. The PTA have very kindly agreed to buy a set of the new titles for our school library, so the children will be able to choose from all the new titles for their reading book.

Hare Class Forest School

Forest School was really enjoyable and a bit like going back to the stone age!
