Message from Mrs Donne

It's been quite a week with storms and sickness bugs, thank you to parents for keeping children off school for 48 hours after any diarrhoea or vomiting episode, it helps us to minimise the impact of the numerous bugs that are going round.

We lost our fence in the storms on Monday, huge thanks to Rob Hawkings (Alex and Sammy's dad) for coming in so quickly to chop it up and take it all away, much appreciated. The children have had a lot of fun sorting through the mouldy old balls and playing with the ones they found behind the fence! Hopefully we can control the brambles and plant something nice in there going forward.

News from Swallow Class

We've done some tag team learning this week as so many people have been off at different times! We've finished our traditional tales, and Y2 have started a new unit of work in math's on money. This is something that can be followed up at home - counting money and getting really familiar with the coins is really useful. Y1 are just coming to the end of a unit of work on place value to 20, before moving on to addition and subtraction. We are learning to use a programme called scratch it at school - it's a free programme you can download if the children wanted to have a go on their tablets. it's quite fun and a good introduction to coding.

News from Hare Class

This weekend we're hoping that the children get the chance to participate in the Big Garden Birdwatch! I have sent home a format for them to tally the seen birds on. Please send it back in next week. There will be dojo points!

Stars of the Week

Swallow Star of the Week is	Livvy - for having some supersonic ideas for adding detail to her story, she blew us all away! Working really hard on remembering the rules for spelling, and being so good at setting a great example to our new preschoolers.
Hare Star of the Week is	Sahra- for writing a brilliant quest story based on 'The Whispering Monster'. The language she has chosen reads like a professional author! She also proved that her typing and presentation skills are superb!

Round the World Club

We went to India this week! We listened to some Indian music, made raita to dip some pakoras, samosas and bhajis in, and then learned about mandala pattern before having a go at designing our own. I hope the children are enjoying it as much as I am!
